

Everything you need to brief an AI on EchoPulse.

Internal context document for sales, marketing, and outreach work.
Designed to give an AI agent (or human collaborator) the complete operating picture: product, ICP, pricing, competition, positioning.

What EchoPulse is, in one sentence.

EchoPulse is an owner-operated content studio that replaces five vendors — video editor, social writer, ad creative person, web designer, developer — with one team. Done-for-you marketing for founders, coaches, business owners, and real estate agents who want 20 to 30 hours of their week back.

Brand line on the site:

"You run the business. We run the content. Everything you publish, handled by one studio. You hit record, we do the rest."

Who EchoPulse sells to.

Job titles we target:

Founder · CEO · Owner · Solo Operator · Agent · Realtor · Brokerage Principal · Course Creator · Coach · Head of Marketing (only at 1-10 person companies where the role overlaps with founding team).

Industries:

SaaS · Coaching & courses · E-commerce · Professional services · Real estate brokerages and solo agents · Content creators with productized offers · B2B service businesses doing $300K–$5M ARR.

Company size:

Solo to 50 employees, mostly 1–10. The decision-maker is also the budget owner — no procurement, no committee, no 6-week sales cycle.

Geography (in priority order):

Tier 1 (this month): Pune real estate solo brokers and small brokerages — Razorpay INR pricing, optional Pune on-site shoot tier.

Tier 2 (this quarter): SaaS founders, indie hackers, coaches in US / UK / EU / Canada / Australia — Dodo Payments hosted checkout in local currency.

Tier 3 (Q4): Course creators, e-commerce founders, professional services across English-speaking markets.

Buyer state we look for:

Already publishing content but inconsistently. Editing reels themselves. Briefing 2-3 freelancers and chasing them. Just hired a VA who quit. About to hire in-house marketing but cannot justify the salary yet. Their content output peaks the first week of every retainer and dies by week 3.

Three target clients we are actively prospecting.

Note: EchoPulse launched in 2026; signed-client logos are still in progress. The profiles below are the highest-fit prospects we are actively pursuing in week 1 of outbound — these represent the ICP shape, not signed accounts.

Profile 1 · Pune Real Estate Solo Broker

Example target:

Tanishq Real Estate Pune (Instagram @tanishqrealestatepune, 3.1K followers, phone +91 88054 40835 in bio).

Pain:

Shoots property listings on their phone, edits reels at night, output caps at 3-4 reels per month because editing eats 4-6 hours per reel.

What we sell them:

Reels Signature tier ■2,499 per listing reel · 48-hour turnaround · unlimited revisions. Foot-in-the-door is one FREE sample reel from their existing footage before any payment.

Close cycle:

3-5 days from cold call to first paid order. No procurement, no committee.

Profile 2 · SaaS Founder Personal Brand

Example target:

Indie hacker / B2B SaaS founder, 5K-50K LinkedIn followers, posts 2-3x per week with declining consistency. Solo or small team (1-10).

Pain:

Building personal brand around the company because that is the GTM. Wants to be on LinkedIn + YouTube + a blog. Cannot write all three channels themselves and still run the business.

What we sell them:

Growth Retainer $1,997/month · 20 LinkedIn posts + 4 long-form blogs + 12 short-form video edits + 6 ad creatives + monthly strategy call. Often starts with the Pilot ($299, 14 days, no retainer commit).

Profile 3 · Multi-City Real Estate Brokerage

Example target:

VASTU Real Estate Pune (@vasturealestatepune, 5.1K Instagram followers, 20+ years in Pune + Mumbai + Dubai).

Pain:

Multiple agents across 3 cities. No consistent brand voice. Some agents post, most do not. Listings, neighbourhood content, agent personal-brand reels — all three needed, none currently scaling.

What we sell them:

Full System $4,997/month · 30 social posts + 8 blogs + full ad engine + YouTube editing + Pune on-site shoot days. Bundled with the on-site tier for in-person production at their sites.

The specific pain.

Founders, coaches, business owners, and real estate agents are losing 20 to 30 hours per week to content operations they should not be doing themselves:

- Editing clips in CapCut at 11pm
- Writing LinkedIn posts that take 2 hours and get 4 likes
- Briefing 2-3 freelancers in parallel and chasing all of them
- Rewriting drafts that still do not sound like them
- Coordinating between a video editor, a social writer, an ad creative person, a web designer, and a developer — five vendors who never talk
- Paying agency markups (account managers, junior labor, sales commissions) for work the actual operators could deliver faster

THE RESULT WE DELIVER

Concrete outcomes, in client language.

- 20 to 30 hours back per week — the actual time gone to content ops
- One bill instead of five — fixed monthly, no surprise invoices
- 3-hour replies inside every working day — not 24-48 hours
- Unlimited revisions standard — not an upsell
- Same-quality output at less than half agency price — no overhead tax
- 48-hour turnaround on most one-off deliverables · 3-5 days on long-form
- Owner-operated quality — the person on the call is the person editing
- Specific channel deliverables (Growth tier monthly): 20 posts · 4 blogs · 12 short-form videos · 2 long-form videos · 6 ad creatives

Who we beat, and how.

Direct competitors (full-service done-for-you):

- Premium content agencies ($5K–15K/mo) — slow turnaround (3-7 days), account-manager bloat, senior creatives only on big retainers. Examples: Magnetic Media, Lemon Light, Demand Curve agency arms.
- Specialist studios (single-channel) — Brett Robertson Studios for short-form video, ContentLift for LinkedIn ghostwriting, Verbatim for blogs. Each excellent at one thing; clients still juggle 5 of them.
- AI tools (Castmagic, Opus Clip, Submagic, ChatGPT) — output quality plateaus, "AI-feel" leaks through, brand voice never lands. Useful as augmentation; cannot replace a studio.
- Upwork / Fiverr freelancers — coordination tax kills the time savings. Most clients fire them within 60 days.

Indirect competitors (DIY tools):

- CapCut, Final Cut, Premiere — capability exists, time does not
- Canva, Figma — designs that look generic
- Webflow, Framer, Squarespace — DIY sites that never quite convert
- ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini for content — needs editorial taste on top

OUR UNIQUE ADVANTAGE

Why someone picks us over the 4 alternatives.

- Five disciplines in one operator — video editing + content strategy + ad creative + web design + production code. Most agencies offer 1-2; AI offers 0.
- Owner-operated — the founder is editing your reels, not an account manager. Same quality at less than half agency price because there is no overhead.
- 3-hour reply SLA — most agencies are 24-48 hours; EchoPulse responds the same morning.
- Unlimited revisions standard — most agencies cap at 2-3.
- No retainer commit to start — $299 14-day Pilot lets clients see real work before signing anything.
- Geo-localized pricing — India clients get PPP-adjusted INR (Razorpay); international gets local currency via Dodo Payments (MoR — they handle tax).
- Pune on-site shoot tier — physically come with cameras for in-person production days. No other Indian content studio offers this at our price point.

Every package, with USD anchor.

BRAND LANGUAGE

Voice rules.

Direct. Confident. Not corporate, not bro-y, not faux-humble. Operator-to-operator: "I do this, here is what it costs, here is how fast, here is what you get." No fluff, no "let us hop on a discovery call." We sell taste, and taste is shown, not described.

Banned phrases (do not use in outreach):

- "Synergy" · "Leverage" · "Circle back" · "Touch base" · "Hop on a call"
- "AI-powered" (we use AI but lead with the human work)
- "Game-changer" · "Move the needle" · "Best-in-class"
- Generic "Increase your engagement" language with no specific numbers

Preferred phrases:

- "One studio, one bill, every channel."
- "Three-hour replies, unlimited revisions."
- "We replace five vendors with one team."

- "Done at the standard you would ship under your own name."
- "Get 20 hours of your week back."

How we open conversations.

Cold-call opener (Pune real estate):

"Hi [Name], Lakshya here from EchoPulse. Saw your post about [specific property they posted]. Quick question: are you editing those reels yourself, or do you have someone? Reason I am asking — I run a one-team studio in Pune that does this for brokers, and looking at your last 10 posts there are 3 hook ideas you are sitting on that need 24h to ship. I can send you one of them edited tonight as a sample, no charge. If you like it, ₹1,199 a reel after that. If not, we both move on. Can I send it?"

LinkedIn DM opener (SaaS founder):

"Hey [Name], saw your post on [their specific topic]. The way you framed [specific insight] is exactly the angle most B2B founders miss. I run EchoPulse — a one-team studio for founders building personal brand around their company. Most of my clients used to write LinkedIn posts on Sunday nights at midnight. I run their whole channel — posts, carousels, reels — in their voice. 20 to 30 hours back per week. Free 10-minute brand-brief preview happy to share. Open to it?"

What NOT to do:

- Lead with features — lead with the time loss they are feeling now
- Pitch the highest tier first — start with the Pilot or a free sample
- Use generic compliments — be specific about which of their posts you saw
- Send a calendar link in the first message — ask if they are open to it first
- Talk price before they have agreed there is a problem to solve

Decision triggers (when they say YES):

- They are about to hire in-house and cannot justify the salary
- They just fired a freelancer or agency
- They post inconsistently and know it
- They mention a deadline (product launch, event, listing season)
- They have a competitor whose content makes them jealous
